

Question

Distributive justice is primarily concerned with:

- A. Fair allocation of benefits and burdens
- B. Fair legal procedures
- C. Protection of privacy
- D. Model explainability

Answer: A

Explanation

Distributive justice concerns how resources, opportunities, benefits, and burdens are allocated.

Question

Procedural justice is MOST concerned with:

- A. Equal outcomes
- B. Fairness of decision-making processes
- C. Utility maximization
- D. Resource redistribution

Answer: B

Question

Which of the following is generally required for procedural justice?

- A. Impartial application of rules
- B. Equal outcomes
- C. Merit-based rewards
- D. Utility maximization

Answer: A

Question

Which statement regarding justice is correct?

- A. Different theories of distributive justice always produce identical outcomes
- B. Distributive justice concepts may conflict with one another
- C. Procedural justice eliminates distributive justice concerns
- D. Social justice eliminates autonomy concerns

Answer: B

Question

Egalitarianism is MOST closely associated with:

- A. Equal treatment or equal distribution
- B. Rewarding achievement
- C. Maximizing aggregate welfare
- D. Maximizing shareholder value

Answer: A

Question

A utilitarian approach generally seeks to:

- A. Benefit the greatest number of people
- B. Provide identical outcomes
- C. Reward merit only
- D. Eliminate all inequality

Answer: A

Question

Under a meritocratic approach, benefits are allocated primarily according to:

- A. Need
- B. Luck
- C. Achievement or contribution
- D. Equal outcomes

Answer: C

Question

Which statement is TRUE regarding meritocracy?

- A. Meritocracy is not considered a distributive justice principle
- B. Meritocracy allocates benefits according to achievement
- C. Meritocracy requires equal outcomes
- D. Meritocracy requires equal wealth

Answer: B

Question

According to the Responsible AI module, social justice generally:

- A. Requires human autonomy
- B. Eliminates the need for autonomy
- C. Is incompatible with autonomy
- D. Requires machine autonomy instead of human autonomy

Answer: A

Question

An AI hiring model systematically disadvantages a qualified demographic group. Which ethical principle is MOST directly implicated?

- A. Nonmaleficence
- B. Justice
- C. Explainability
- D. Security

Answer: B

Question

An algorithm distributes resources equally among all citizens. A utilitarian analysis suggests resources should be concentrated among a smaller group to maximize overall welfare. This illustrates:

- A. Procedural failure
- B. Explainability failure
- C. Conflict between justice concepts
- D. Violation of autonomy

Answer: C